

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a system and method for transmitting auxiliary data in video encoding. The system and method receives first and second data, encoding the first data based on a state of at least one bit of the second data. The encoded first data and the second data is packaged into a single word and communicated.

1000-444-4444